

Allison & Bryan

about us

We are a fun and caring couple excited to begin the journey of parenthood. Our lives are built around love, respect, and shared experiences. Bryan works as a special education teacher, and his passion for supporting and empowering students is a constant source of joy. Allison is a dedicated paralegal, and she takes pride in her work of helping others navigate complex situations with care and expertise. We love traveling and trying new foods and experiences. Exploring different cultures and cuisines is one of our favorite ways to spend time together. At home, we enjoy quiet moments cooking meals, reading, and discovering new hobbies. We value a life filled with laughter, creativity, and connection, and we look forward to sharing these joys with a new addition to our family. We're excited to provide a loving, supportive, and nurturing environment for our future child.

OUR HOME

We live in a welcoming suburban area in northern Illinois known for its family-friendly atmosphere and strong sense of community. Our home is cozy and spacious, offering a safe and peaceful environment perfect for raising a child. The neighborhood is filled with parks, libraries, and recreational areas, providing plenty of opportunities for outdoor activities. We're also close to local attractions like museums and nature preserves, which make the area vibrant and exciting. The highly rated school district ensures our future child will have access to great educational opportunities, making this a wonderful place to call home.

WHAT LED US TO ADOPTION

We are excited about the opportunity to adopt and grow our family. As a Jewish couple, we believe strongly in the importance of building a family filled with love, tradition, and support. Adoption feels like the perfect way for us to expand our family and share our values. We are eager to offer a child a loving, secure home and provide them with a future full of possibilities. Our hearts are open, and we can't wait to embark on this beautiful journey together.

OUR FAMILY + traditions

We are lucky to have a close-knit extended family that plays a significant role in our lives. We each have a younger sister. Our family includes a wonderful mix of cousins, aunts, uncles, and grandparents, all of whom share a deep bond of love and support.

Celebrating Jewish holidays together is a special tradition for us. We enjoy gathering for high holiday celebrations, Passover Seders, Hanukkah celebrations, and other holidays, where we share meaningful rituals and connect with each other. We also celebrate birthdays with family, enjoying the joy of being together, exchanging gifts, and creating lasting memories. These traditions provide a sense of continuity, belonging, and connection that we are excited to share with a child. We look forward to introducing them to the love, culture, and warmth of our family.

dear expectant mother

First and foremost, we want to express our deepest gratitude to you for considering adoption. We understand this is a deeply personal and difficult decision, and we admire your strength, courage, and love for your baby. We can only imagine the emotions and challenges you are navigating right now, and we want you to know that no matter what, your decision is one filled with love and selflessness.

We are so honored to be a part of this journey with you, and we want to assure you that if you choose us to be the parents of your child, we will offer them a life filled with unconditional love, joy, and support. We are committed to giving them a safe, nurturing, and happy home where they can grow, learn, and thrive. Every day, we will cherish the gift of being their parents and will honor the incredible choice you are making. We promise to raise them with the values that are so important to us—love, kindness, respect, and family.

Thank you again for considering us as the family for your child. We are full of gratitude and excitement, and we hope that whatever you decide, you find peace knowing your baby will be loved beyond measure.

WITH LOVE AND GRATITUDE, ALLISON AND BRYAN
