

DAVID & JIMMY

completing our family

First and foremost, we are proud fathers to our adopted son. It is the most important role for both of us. Since he was born, our hearts have been overfilled with love. Becoming fathers has been the greatest journey of our lives. Secondly, but not less importantly, we are loving husbands. We are each other's rocks through every journey in life and have been basically since we met. Six years ago, we crossed paths at the gym. It was love at first sight and quickly formed into an unbreakable bond. Through the years, we have watched each other grow in several facets of life, including in our professions. David is now a licensed doctor, and Jimmy is the creative director and owner of an international event agency. On any given night, you can find us on the couch trying to make the other one laugh. We balance each other out perfectly and are each other's best friend.

our home & neighborhood

We recently moved back to the Midwest from Southern California for a short period but plan to return to California in June 2026. These three years in the Midwest have been incredibly fulfilling, as our son has been able to grow close to his cousins, aunts, uncles, and grandparents. Our long-term plan is to keep homes in both California and the Midwest so we can easily spend time in each place. Our current home is in one of the safest cities in our state, filled with parks, playgrounds, museums, and family-friendly activities. We are members of two children's museums and a local pool. At home, several rooms are dedicated playrooms, with toys, books, and crafts, creating the perfect space to engage with our son.

adoption in our life

We have been through this process before and have seen the beautiful side of it. That's not to say there wasn't fear and anxiety as well. It's a journey with dips and valleys, but we are each other's support, as much or as little as you want. There are mothers in need, and there are couples in need. When life connects the two, it is the most beautiful thing on Earth. That is why we have chosen adoption again.

PHOTOS OF our life together

DAVID

OCCUPATION: Doctor

EDUCATION: Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine

RACE: Caucasian

RELIGION: Christian

SPORT: Baseball, basketball, track & field

FOOD: Pizza

HOBBY: Cooking, perfume making, working out

FAMILY TRADITION: Trick or treating

MUSICAL GROUP: Coldplay, Rihanna, Lana
Del Rey

MOVIE: Matilda

DREAM VACATION: Galapagos Islands

HOLIDAY: Halloween

TV SHOW: Cooking Channel, HGTV

SUBJECT IN SCHOOL: Biology

BOOK: Love You Forever

JIMMY

OCCUPATION: Creative Director/Owner

EDUCATION: Bachelor in Communication

RACE: Caucasian

RELIGION: Christian

SPORT: Gymnastics, baseball

FOOD: David's cooking

HOBBY: Traveling, blogging, working out, movies, art

FAMILY TRADITION: Family holidays

MUSICAL GROUP: Anything pop

MOVIE: Jurassic Park

DREAM VACATION: Africa

HOLIDAY: Christmas

TV SHOW: Anything on Bravo

SUBJECT IN SCHOOL: Math

BOOK: Oh, the Places You'll Go

OUR FAMILY & friends

Family is everything to us. We both have extremely strong bonds with our families, and they are thrilled about our latest adoption journey. When we told them we had decided to proceed with adoption again, saying they got emotional would be an understatement. The bond they have with our son is stronger than any bond we have seen, and in return, the amount of love he has for them is beyond measure.

Holidays are spent with our extended families. No matter what, we are together. Luckily, since our families are only a few hours apart, we have the great situation of not leaving anyone out. The saying "home for the holidays" rings true for both of us.

As a couple, we have made traveling a tradition. We do one big trip a year, such as Italy or Tulum, and then several smaller, drivable excursions to the mountains or nearby ocean cities. As our son gets older, our vacations have been more family friendly destinations. This year we took him to Disney and Deer Valley. Seeing life through his eyes has been truly rewarding.

Our Letter To You

Dear Expectant Mother,

Until now, we have not met each other. We have lived our lives separately, not knowing that soon we would be connected on a deep and spiritual level. This letter is to thank you for considering us and to tell you how incredible you are. You are courageous, you are beautiful, and you are loved. We are so grateful you are considering such a brave and selfless decision to go the route of adoption. Your bravery will give us the chance to grow our family.

Our relationship and household is so full of love, and we plan on giving your child the happiest life possible. We cannot do this without you, and for this, we will always be thankful for you and your family. You are considering giving us the greatest gift on Earth, and we will carry that appreciation in our hearts forever.

Thank you, thank you, thank you.

JIMMY & DAVID

www.lifelongadoptions.com