about us

Hello! We are Anthony and Seth, husbands who met 12 years ago in New York. Anthony is a retired professional dancer who channels his passion for movement into teaching yoga. Seth is a doctor of oncology driven by a deep commitment to helping others. From our very first date, we shared a commitment to starting a family, and we are so happy to have finally arrived at that moment. We share a love for learning and staying curious about the world, and we balance meaningful careers with hobbies that keep us engaged and grounded. Our favorite pastimes include reading, exploring the outdoors, creating art and music, and the occasional gaming session. But what brings us the most joy is the simple pleasure of being at home together—cooking a delicious meal side by side and curling up to watch our favorite shows or movies.

our home + pets

We live in the heart of Georgia in a beautifully open and diverse community. Our townhome is cozy and welcoming, located in an area known for having the best schools around. The elementary school is just across the street, and families here walk to school from the first years of elementary through high school. The neighborhood is filled with tree-lined streets, many parks, a huge farmers market, local shops, playgrounds, and plenty of family-friendly restaurants. It's an idyllic, village-like community right next to a major city. Our home is shared with three incredibly affectionate cats and one sweet, cuddly dog. We've loved building our fur family over the years and are excited to share our love of animals with our future child.

what led us to adoption

What excites us most about adoption is being on the receiving end of such a selfless act of love. We would honor that trust by wholeheartedly raising an emotionally intelligent, successful, and happy child and providing a life full of love and stability with any opportunity they could need or want. Having two close friends who were adopted and two family members who have adopted themselves, we've seen how meaningful adoption can be for everyone involved. Witnessing those stories has inspired us and reinforced our desire to grow our family in this way. We look forward to the chance to nurture a child and guide them through life's joys and challenges.

our family + traditions

Family is at the heart of everything we do, and we're excited to continue the traditions that have shaped us as we build our own. In our families, every occasion—whether it's Easter, Hanukkah, Christmas, Thanksgiving, milestones, or a birthday—is a reason to gather and celebrate for a week or more to create lasting memories. Weekly family dinners are a cherished tradition of the past that we would love to revive. Summers are all about adventures, from beach days to camping weekends, blending family and friends into one close-knit community.

Food has always been a big part of family gatherings, especially when Seth's mom—affectionately called Bubbe—prepares her famous home-cooked meals alongside his dad, "Grumpa," bringing everyone together around the table. These traditions have taught us the importance of connection, love, and creating a sense of belonging, and we're excited to pass these values on as we grow our family.

dear expectant mother,

We are deeply grateful for your courage and selflessness in considering adoption. It is an act of profound love, and we are humbled by the opportunity to be part of this journey. If you choose us, we promise to give your child a life filled with love, support, and joy surrounded by family and friends ready to welcome them with open hearts.

We can already picture the little moments that make life so special: curling up on the couch for a movie night to welcome the weekend, chasing fireflies on warm summer evenings, or sharing stories and laughter around the dinner table. These are the moments where love lives, and they are the foundation of the home we have built—full of warmth, stability, and possibility.

Our dream is to raise a child who feels safe, valued, and free to explore who they are. We will teach them to embrace kindness, meet challenges with courage, and navigate life with integrity. They will always have our unwavering love but also our diverse extended family, who cannot wait to help nurture this child.

We cannot fully imagine what this decision feels like for you, but we admire your strength and the love guiding it. Whatever role you choose to play in this journey, we will always respect and support you.

Thank you for considering us. It would mean the world to us to share our hearts, our lives, and all the love we have with your child.

With gratitude,

Seth and Anthony
