ABOUT

us

Hi, and thank you for taking the time to learn about us! We're Fallon and Heidi, and we've been together for over 15 years and married for 12.

A little bit about us: we were both college athletes, and fitness and recreation continue to be an important part of our lives today. In our day-to-day, Fallon works in sales while Heidi works in quality production manufacturing. Outside of work, we love animals—we share our home with a dog and two cats—and we enjoy traveling and experiencing new things together.

our home & pets

We live in a quiet suburb of Ohio, in a beautiful home surrounded by a welcoming neighborhood with three local parks within walking distance. We've already planned out a nursery and have both a living room and a family room that we're excited to set up as play areas for children. Our neighborhood is family-friendly, with kids riding bicycles up and down the streets and neighbors out walking their dogs or enjoying evening strolls. Our home has a fenced-in backyard with a playset and a fire pit, making it a perfect spot for both playtime and family gatherings. We're fortunate to be part of an excellent school district that offers strong academics as well as athletic opportunities. Our family also includes a sweet dog and two very affectionate cats, who are sure to love having a little one around as much as we will.

what led us to adoption

From the very beginning, we've always talked about adoption. We believe our home is a warm, loving environment for a child, and we've always felt open to the possibility of growing our family this way. Adoption is also personal for us—Fallon's dad was adopted by his grandfather, and Fallon knows he wouldn't be the person he is today without that love and guidance.

Our families are open, welcoming, and incredibly supportive. They are just as excited as we are to see our family grow and are committed to surrounding a child with love, encouragement, and belonging every step of the way.

our family + TRADITIONS

Fallon's parents live about half an hour away, and we see them weekly to spend quality time together. Heidi's mother and brothers are about an hour away, and we visit with them about once a month. As a family, we enjoy going to concerts, riding motorcycles, and playing games together.

Holidays are always a special time. We travel to Michigan to celebrate with Fallon's extended family and to Marietta to be with Heidi's side, where we gather with many aunts, uncles, cousins, and grandparents. Our families have been blended for a long time, and the love and connection we share make us grateful every day. We wouldn't have it any other way.

DEAR

expectant mother,

Dear Expectant Mother,

This is a tough decision, and we understand that. We know you are facing emotions and choices harder than anything we could ever imagine. It's not only about considering adoption, but also about finding the right family for your baby—a family who will love and care for them the way they deserve. Please know that we respect you deeply for the courage it takes to walk this path. For us, the decision to adopt has been one of the easiest we've ever made. We have always known adoption was part of our journey, and we believe with all our hearts that our home and family were meant for this. From the moment we know a baby is on the way, our world will revolve around ensuring that this child—your baby, our baby—has everything they need, want, and deserve in the new life you are creating for them right now.

There are not enough words to express the gratitude we feel for you, simply for considering this path. What we can promise is this: every single day, we will pour our hearts into raising your child with love, stability, and joy. We will honor their story, making sure they know how much you loved them and how your strength and bravery led to their adoption. If you choose to trust us, we would be truly honored to be considered as the parents of your precious child.

Sincerely,

Fallon and Heidi
