OUR ADOPTION JOURNEY

ABOUT US

We were set up on a blind date in 2013 and haven't wanted to be apart ever since. We lived outside of Fort Worth, Texas for almost four years but then moved to Dallas, Texas when work opportunities presented for both of us in 2018. Our dogs, Aston Martin and Maserati, have been along for the ride and just bring more love, cuddles, and laughs to our family every day. We love our similarities and work to embrace our differences. Being first-generation born and raised Americans, we love mixing our culture into our everyday lives and sharing cultural differences with friends and family.

OUR HOME & PETS

Our home is a duplex in a great neighborhood. There are a lot of walking trails and playgrounds throughout the subdivision. Along with a bright kitchen, dining, and living room, there is a small formal room we use as an office. Our dogs, Aston Martin and Maserati, always give us a good reason to stop and take a break to step outside and get fresh air. They are so loving, and they enjoy napping while we sit quietly and read.

WHAT LED US TO ADOPTION

We have always known adoption would be the only way we wanted to grow our family. It was never a question for us. Our hearts have always been set on this path for the next stage of our lives. Our families have such big hearts and are ready to give love and support to a child regardless of gender or race.

OUR FAMILY & traditions

Both of Reema's parents came to the U. S. as young adults. They settled in Texas and opened their own medical supply business that is still in the family. Her brother runs the day-to-day operations and is slowly taking it over. He, his wife, and their son live five minutes from Reema's parents. He has a bright, happy, carefree personality. He's always a joy to be around, and he would love to have a cousin close in age! Visits to them come a few times a year and Thanksgiving and Christmas are spent with them.

Faheem's parents came to Texas in their twenties for a better life for themselves. When a business opportunity came up in 1989, they took little Faheem on a journey north to a little town outside Chicago. In 2001, their family, with Faheem and his little sister, moved back to Texas. His parents own a little convenience store and gas station in a city outside Dallas, Texas. Reema is the big sister Faheem's sister always wanted, and his parents love Reema like a daughter. Faheem's family has an infinite amount of love to give.

DEAR
expectant mother

Thank you for taking a moment to get to know us. The gravity of the decisions you will be making is not lost on us. We hope and pray you get the support and love you need to get you through as you make these decisions. Words cannot express our admiration for you as you go through this process.

We know most hopeful parents make beautiful videos for expectant moms to watch and get to know them better. However, we are very private about our lives, and didn't feel comfortable putting a video on a public platform. On that same note, we do not plan to post pictures to social media. We have decided on a private platform to update family, friends, and you (if you wish to see pictures regularly). We are happy to set aside time to chat or video call with you if you would like to ask us anything or get to know us better.

Our hearts, home, and family are so eager and excited for this next stage in our lives. We're so incredibly lucky to have blessed lives. Bringing a baby into our lives wouldn't be filling a void; it would be adding to the home and family we've created and love so dearly.

We look forward to watching and helping our future baby grow and will encourage them every step of the way. We are not naive to think things will always be perfect, but we have supported and walked each other through so many challenging moments in our lives that we know we'll make a good team as parents.

Regardless of whether you entrust us to raise your baby, we pray for you as you take this journey.

Sincerely,

Reema & Faheem
