ABOUT ME

I am both family and career oriented. I always embrace opportunities to enrich my life in both aspects. Although I grew up and live in Southern California, I have also traveled and lived abroad several times during high school and college. I enjoy learning different languages and experiencing other cultures. Education and learning are important to me, whether via formal classroom learning or experience. My career as a compliance officer in the healthcare industry has taught me over the years to be a strong leader, and I allow my values and empathy to guide me along the way. I am relatively reserved by nature but like to approach things with an open mind and a sense of humor along the way. I enjoy many hobbies, such as playing the piano (I absolutely love music), crocheting, and reading. Walking my dog is another regular activity as I love animals!

MY HOME AND PETS

I live in a three-bedroom home in a suburban Southern CA neighborhood with my chocolate Labrador, Bear, and two lovable cats: Abby and Pepper.. My pets are the loves of my life, and I have so much fun spending time with them playing and walking (and yes, I do talk to them, and they talk back!). I love spending time in my home watching movies, crocheting, reading, playing the piano, or just hanging out with family or friends.

WHAT LED ME TO ADOPTION

I have wanted to be a mother my entire life, and I am extremely excited about the opportunity to adopt! After struggling with infertility, my desire to raise a child and give them the love, support, and opportunities every child deserves just became stronger. The idea of adoption seems very natural to me as the next step in my life journey overall. I come from a very loving family with high morals and strong values, where I was taught to care about others. My experience growing up makes me want to pass along everything I learned to my own child one day and to also have those fun family experiences to remember forever.

MY FAMILY & TRADITIONS

I come from a small immediate family with no siblings, but we make up for it with a tremendous amount of love and support. We travel together, play golf together, watch movies and play games, and just love spending time making more memories.

I also have an extended family of aunts, uncles, and cousins with whom I am close. Christmas Eve is an annual family tradition filled with good homemade food, gift exchanges, Christmas carol piano playing and singing, and a lot of fun and laughter. When I was a child, my aunts, uncles, and grandparents would all come over, and I would greet them with special chocolate candy I personally made and wrapped for them each year. These days we also spend hours around the holidays making celery soup, one of my favorite winter meals.

I dream of including my own child one day into these fun traditions and can't wait to make more new traditions as well. Whether it's traveling to a foreign country, dining out at a local restaurant, talking next to a warm fire, or watching a movie with popcorn or playing a board game at home in the living room, I want to enjoy it with my own future child, whom I will love and adore for the rest of my life.

DEAR EXPECTANT MOTHER

I am so grateful and incredibly honored to be considered as your baby's mother and to provide your baby a long-term family and home filled with lots of love and laughter. Being a mother has been a lifelong dream, and my heart is ready for your baby to be the focus of my life and family. If you choose me, I promise to teach and instill values of love, gratitude, compassion, and tolerance along with the foundational skills associated with hard work and education. I promise to have fun with your child and to show them different parts of the world. I promise to give them the opportunity to explore and fulfill their own dreams through a variety of experiences. I promise to expose your child to music, sports, books, movies, arts and crafts, and anything else in which they show interest. I promise your child will have a home environment that is loving and safe.

Bringing your baby into my family traditions is something I look forward to and have been dreaming of for such a long time. My extended family will welcome us as a family unit and shower your baby with so much love and affection. We will establish new traditions to carry forward that will become equally as cherished and enjoyed.

Throughout all of these experiences, we will never forget that your selfless act brought us together. Thank you so much for considering me in your adoption process. This will be a dream come true for me!
